PRINCIPAL INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

The Government Money Fund purchases liquid, high quality, short-term U.S. Government bonds and notes. The Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets (including borrowings for investment purposes) in U.S. Government securities such as U.S. Treasury obligations, obligations issued or guaranteed as to principal and interest by agencies or instrumentalities of the U.S. Government and repurchase agreements involving these obligations. The securities held by the Fund must, in the opinion of City National Asset Management, Inc. (“CNAM”), the Fund’s investment adviser, present minimal credit risk. The Fund invests in compliance with the requirements of Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940 relating to the credit quality, maturity, liquidity and diversification of investments for money market funds.

Using a top-down strategy and bottom-up security selection, CNAM seeks securities with an acceptable maturity that are marketable and liquid and offer competitive yields. CNAM also considers factors such as the anticipated level of interest rates and the maturity of individual securities relative to the maturity of the Fund as a whole.

PRINCIPAL RISKS OF INVESTING IN THE FUND

As with any money market fund, there are risks to investing. Neither the Government Money Fund nor CNAM can guarantee that the Fund will meet its investment goal. Here are the principal risks to consider:

No Guarantees – An investment in the Fund is not a deposit in a bank and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Although the Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at an NAV of $1.00, it is possible to lose money by investing in the Fund. Additionally, you should be aware that a very small number of money market funds in other fund complexes have in the past “broken the buck,” which means that investors did not receive $1.00 per share for their investment in those funds, and any money market fund may do so in the future.

The Effect of Interest Rates – The Fund’s yield typically moves in the same direction as movements in short-term interest rates, although it does not do so as quickly. When interest rates are very low, the Fund’s expenses could absorb all or a significant portion of the Fund’s income, and, if the Fund’s expenses exceed the Fund’s income, the Fund may be unable to maintain its $1.00 share price without a subsidy by CNAM or its affiliates.

Market Risk of Fixed Income Securities – The prices of fixed income securities respond to economic developments, particularly interest rate changes, as well as to perceptions about the creditworthiness of individual issuers, including governments. Generally, fixed income securities decrease in value if interest rates rise and increase in value if interest rates fall, with lower rated securities more volatile than higher rated securities.

Credit – The Government Money Fund invests exclusively in securities that are rated, when the Fund buys them, in the highest short-term rating category, or if unrated, are of comparable quality in CNAM’s opinion. However, it is possible that some issuers or other obligors will be unable to make the required payments on securities held by the Fund. Debt securities also go up or down in value based on the perceived creditworthiness of issuers or other obligors. If an obligor for a security held by the Fund fails to pay, otherwise defaults or is perceived to be less creditworthy, a security’s credit rating is downgraded (which could happen rapidly), or the credit quality or value of any underlying assets declines, the value of your investment in the Fund could decline significantly, particularly in certain market environments. If the Fund enters into a financial contract (such as a repurchase agreement or reverse repurchase agreement) the Fund will be subject to the credit risk presented by the counterparty.

Government-Sponsored Entities – The Fund invests in securities issued by government-sponsored entities, such as mortgage-related securities, which may not be guaranteed or insured by the U.S. Government and may only be supported by the credit of the issuing agency.

Management – The Fund’s performance depends on the adviser’s skill in making appropriate investments. As a result, the Fund may underperform the money market or similar funds.

Defensive Investments – During unusual economic or market conditions, or for temporary defensive or liquidity purposes, the Fund may invest 100% of its assets in cash or cash equivalents that would not ordinarily be consistent with the Fund’s investment goals.

Redemptions – The Fund may experience heavy redemptions, particularly during periods of declining or illiquid markets, that could cause the Fund to liquidate its assets at inopportune times or at a loss or depressed value and that could affect the Fund’s ability to maintain a $1.00 share price. Redemption risk is greater to the extent that the Fund has investors with large shareholdings, short investment horizons, or unpredictable cash flow needs.
